

FDM Software, MS20

Field Data Manager Software

Reporting software for data management and visualization (Single-station license)

Benefits:

- Automatic service for report generation, printing reports, read out of data, storing of data, secure export, pdf generation
- Create reports and templates
- Read out measured data via online interface or from mass storage; Export/Import data
- SQL database / manipulation secure data storage
- Online visualization of instantaneous values ("live data")
- The following versions of the software are available: Essential version (Freeware), Professional trial version and Professional version. A change to the Professional version is possible at any time by entering a valid license key.

Field of application: FDM is a software package offering central data management and visualization of stored data. It allows complete and manipulation protected documentation of stored data, e.g. measurement values or diagnostics events. "Live data" from connected devices available. FDM stores the data tamper proof in a SQL database. Supported data bases: PostgreSQL (included), Oracle or Microsoft SQL Server. Single-station license: use of the software only on one computer at the same time.

Features and specifications